THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD IS JESUS CHRIST

Fr. Joseph Asante Sunday Reflection

The readings for this Sunday invite us to reflect on God's call, our response, and the mission to bring light into a world often shadowed by division and despair. In the first reading (Isaiah 8:23-9:3), the prophet speaks of a people who walked in darkness but have seen a great light. This light is not just a distant hope. It is God's saving presence breaking into human history. For us today, it's a reminder that no matter how heavy our burdens or how deep our struggles, God's light can pierce through and guide us forward. The Gospel (Matthew 4:12-23) shows the beginning Jesus's public ministry in Galilee, fulfilling Isaiah's prophecy. He calls His first disciples, ordinary fishermen, saying, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of people." Their immediate response is striking; they leave their nets, their boats, and even their families to follow Him. This shows that discipleship is not just about belief, but about trusting enough to act. St. Paul, in the second reading (1 Corinthians 1:10-13, 17), urges unity among believers. He warns against divisions that distract from the Gospel. In our time, this is a powerful reminder that the Church's mission is weakened when we let pride, politics, or personal preferences overshadow Christ's message of love. Key Takeaways for Us Today: 1. God's light is for everyone: we are called to be bearers of that light in our homes, workplaces, and communities. 2. Discipleship demands action: following Jesus means letting go of what holds us back and stepping into His mission. 3. Unity strengthens our witness: when we stand together in Christ, the world sees His love more clearly. May this Sunday inspire us to hear Christ's call anew, to walk in His light, and to work together in building His Kingdom here and now.
